COMMENT OF THE DAY

Cyprus Disorder

THERE seems little doubt that last week's violence in Cyprus, and Greek and Turkish approaches to the Security Council reflect intransigent opinion in Athens and Ankara following disclosures of the new British proposals for self-government in the island.

According to reliable reports these ignore both the Greek demand for a government capable of determining the island's future relations with Greece, and Turkish demands in this event for partition. Instead key portfolios remain in British hands, with other ministries divided proportionately between Greeks and Turks.

The Government would be provisional and the hope is that the experiment of practical co-operation would in time dissipate friction and mutual hostility, implant trust and weld a single harmonious community pledged to work out "a final solution" to the Cyprus problem.

Embarrassing

THESE proposals are possibly based on feeling that while Turkish activists in Cyprus are under party control—and hence to some extent amenable to reason and negotiation—Colonial Grievances and Eoka terrorists are no longer obedient to the policy of Athens and in some cases embarrassing to it. And according to one well-informed diplomatic correspondent "he appears determined to continue his campaign of murder and bloodshed regardless of any deterrent from his erstwhile supporters."

The British plan is consistent with postwar policy applied to other dependent territories emerging to full nationhood. The mistake it makes, however, is that it ignores the demands of the people—Enosis on one hand, and partition on the other. There is no Cypriot nationalism as such. And the demand for self-determination by the Greek community cannot be confused with a demand for independence.

The problem of coping with irreconcilable racial, cultural and religious differences is not new to Britain: India, Pakistan, Israel-Jordan, to some extent, Malaya-Singapore posed similar difficulties, and beyond the British Empire, political divisions have required the re-drawing of borders in Germany, Indo-China and Korea. The hope is, of course, that in time solutions may be possible in each case.

No Security

GREEKS and Turks have demonstrated, however, that there is no real security in the island except where the opponents are separated. Greek families have already begun moving from Turkish quarters where their lives and property are threatened. Pursuing this course, Turkey could bring about de facto partition though undoubtedly it would be geographically unsatisfactory.

It is Britain's duty to maintain order in the island and time will possibly show that peace will not be fully restored until Greeks and Turks learn to respect the security that segregation confers. This need not entail total segregation however—any more than the creation of Pakistan involved separating entirely all Moslems and Hindus in the Indian sub-continent. But there would be separate Greek and Turkish areas. It is in NATO's interest as well as Britain's, that the dispute should be settled; if Britain leaves could not force not as a stabilizing force between the two?

Violent Storm Hits Colony

Girl Killed By Scaffolding Down In PEDDER ST

Lightning CITY DAMAGE

A sudden violent thunderstorm hit the Colony early this morning, sweeping down a newly-erected scaffolding in a main city street, deluging the city with 1.66 inches of rain in six hours and killing a six-year-old girl.

The girl, Wong So-wah, the only reported fatality of the storm, was killed when she was struck by lightning at 9.30 a.m. At the time she was sleeping with her parents inside their hut in Pui Man Village, Kowloon. The girl died soon after admission to Kowloon Hospital.

Swept Down

Covered bamboo scaffolding around the remaining portion of the old Hongkong Hotel building, now being demolished, was swept down by heavy rain and wind. No one was injured. Coolies worked from 8.25 a.m. until shortly after 10 a.m. to clear the scaffolding off Pedder Street. It has not yet been re-erected.

Rush-hour traffic through Pedder Street was held up but never completely stopped by the collapse.

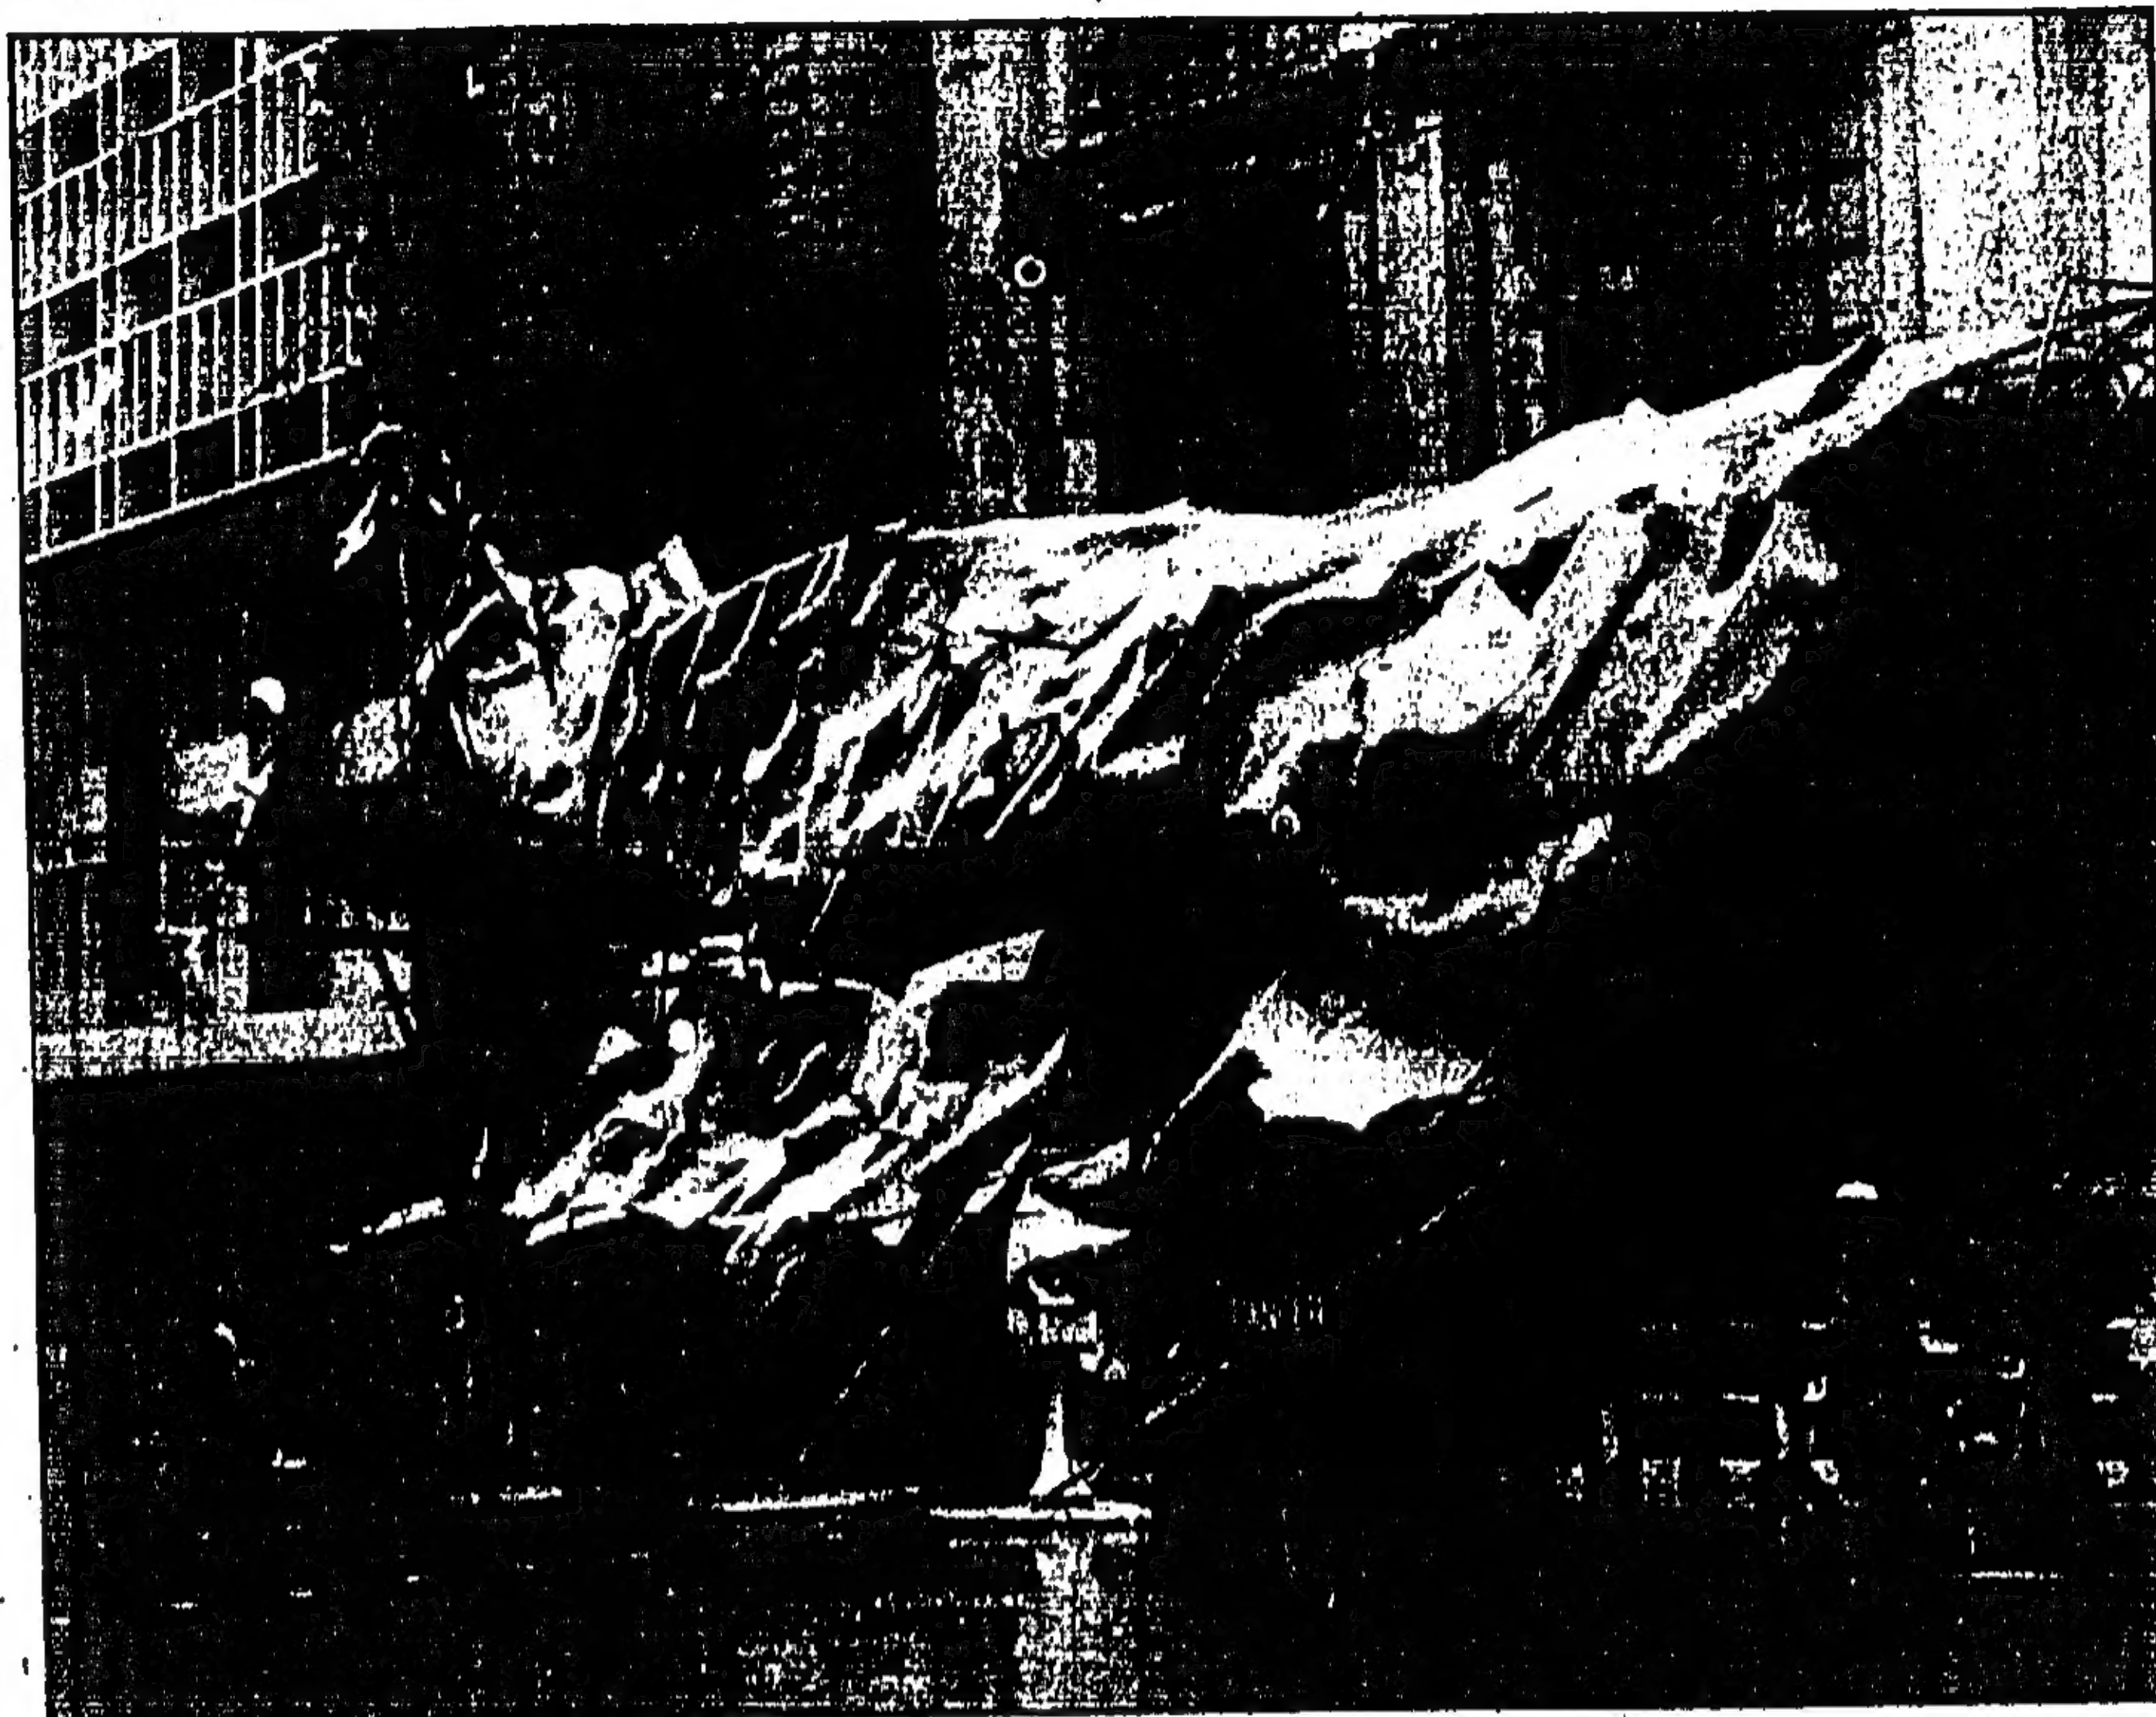

Rainfall was one of the heaviest experienced this year. Earlier this year on June 8, a similar type of storm hit the Colony and between 3 and 4 p.m. 1.45 inches of rain was recorded.

Rain Figure

Between 8 and 9 a.m. 0.6 of an inch of rain was recorded by the Royal Observatory. Up to noon the Observatory recorded a total fall of 1.66 inches of rain.

The weather is expected to remain overcast or cloudy with occasional rain or showers. The deluge was welcomed in the Colony after the last two days of oppressive heat and humidity, and served to cool down the hot city.

No other serious damage was reported.

The bamboo scaffolding around the old Hongkong Hotel, which is now being demolished, was blown down during this morning's violent storm. The road was partially blocked for two hours.—China Mail Photo.

USE RAPACKI PLAN AS BASIS FOR SUMMIT TALKS

Says Gaitskell

New York, June 15. Mr Hugh Gaitskell, Labour Party leader today urged the West to reconsider its rejection of the Polish Rapacki plan as a basis for summit talks.

The Rapacki plan proposes an atom-free zone in West and East Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia. In an article in the magazine Foreign Affairs, said the plan would not be acceptable to the West, but it could be used as a basis for summit talks aimed at an agreement plan in the central European area.

Sincere Effort

Such an agreement might reduce tension in Europe, he said. By making a sincere effort to get the Russians to agree to a plan of this sort, the West would get credit for a positive approach even if the effort failed.

Mr Gaitskell said the Western Powers should work toward a disengagement plan, which would include these five points:

- ★ Withdrawal of all foreign forces from West Germany, East Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary;
- ★ Agreement on national forces permitted in this area with international controls;
- ★ Reunification of Germany through free elections;
- ★ A security pact of the great powers to guarantee frontiers in central Europe; and
- ★ Subsequent withdrawal of West Germany from NATO and of Poland, Hungary and Czechoslovakia from the Warsaw Pact.—Reuters.

Hammarskjöld For Beirut

United Nations, June 15. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld said today that he has decided to attend the first Beirut meeting of the UN Observation group sent to Lebanon to investigate rebel activity. Mr Hammarskjöld said he would leave New York for Beirut next Tuesday night.—U.P.I.

Queen Gives A Pay Rise

London, June 15. Queen Elizabeth has given cost-of-living pay raises to the estimated 200 members of her personal staff, the Sunday Express said today.

It said the increases would add about $33,000 to the annual salaries and pensions of $410,000 she pays her staff, from personal secretary Michael Adeane to housemaids and cooks.

The paper said the level of wages paid to the Royal staff is lower than that of most other establishments and palace officials often have difficulty filling posts, particularly in the bottom echelons.—U.P.I.

Shantytown Blaze

Casablanca, June 15. A fast-spreading fire, the second in four days, whipped through a Moslem shantytown outside Casablanca last night bringing the total of homeless in the two blazes to an estimated 15,000.

Four persons were believed dead and at least five injured in last night's fire, which was brought under control early this morning but was still smouldering near noon today.—U.P.I.

UK TO GO AHEAD WITH BLUESTREAK

From CHAPMAN PINCHER

London, June 16. The Government has decided to go ahead with the "Bluestreak" the all-British H-bomb rocket instead of copying United States missiles.

Izmir Incident PROVOCATION, GREECE CHARGES

Athens, June 15. Greece withdrew her personnel from the Nato base at Izmir because of "repeated Turkish provocation." Foreign Minister Evangelos Averoff said here tonight.

Mr Averoff's statement was the first and only official comment from the Greek Government on the evacuation of Greek personnel yesterday.

Meanwhile, Bishop Kition of Anthimos, who has been deputizing for Archbishop Makarios during his exile from Cyprus, arrived here today.

The bishop said that he had refused to discuss Britain's plan for the future of the island with the Governor, Sir Hugh Foot, because of recent events there. He added that Greek self-defence organisations in Cyprus had now reached the point where mobile units could strike back at any part of the island where Turkish Cypriots attacked Greek Cypriots.—U.P.I.

Action Protest

Tokyo, June 16. Canton city leaders met over the weekend to protest anew against action by the British authorities in Hongkong prohibiting the flying of the Chinese Communist flag and the singing of the Communist Chinese national anthem, the New China News Agency reported today.—U.P.I.

BACK PAGE FEATURE

On the back page today, the China Mail publishes an exclusive selection of pictures of the new Hongkong House in London. Other local news will appear on Page 8.

Two Gliders Crash In Mid-Air

London, June 15. Two gliders crashed in mid-air 4,500 feet up in Lasham, Hampshire, today in the first recorded mishap of its kind—but no one was hurt.

One glider, an Eagle two-seater, broke in half and the crew—pilot Geoffrey Barrellin, 28, and 21-year-old Australian co-pilot, Julian Morfelo—parachuted to safety. The second glider, a Sky single-seater, had its wing torn off, but the pilot, a New Zealander, managed to make a safe landing on an airfield near here.—China Mail Special.

Daytime Curfew In Cyprus Lifted Today

Nicosia, June 15.

The daytime curfew, clamped down on this strike-ridden island in the wake of rioting between Greek and Turkish Cypriots, will be lifted tomorrow, it was announced today.

The lifting of the daytime curfew will come on the eve of the British statement on Cyprus in Parliament on Tuesday. The night curfew remains in force.

Anti-British

Meanwhile, this afternoon, raffles in Nicosia's Turkish quarter blared forth anti-British and anti-Greek speeches from the monster student-led rally in the Turkish port of Izmir carried by Radio Ankara.

Evacuees from both Greek and Turkish sectors continued throughout the day.

A form of unofficial partition was taking place with terrified families leaving their homes where they have spent all their lives and joining their compatriots.

Although there were no reports of any Turkish living among Greeks being attacked, they too were being gradually evacuated.

Evacuation

There are no Greeks now left in the mainly Turkish town of Lefka. British troops took part in the evacuation and relief work. They acted as furniture movers, loading Greek families' belongings on army trucks.

Meanwhile, in Ankara Turkey charged "Greek terrorists" on Cyprus with responsibility for the week-long clashes there in a memorandum to the United Nations published here today.

The memorandum was handed to U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld in New York by Turkish representative Seyfullah Esin.

It demanded partition of the British-held island into independent Greek and Turkish regions and warned that the Greek community is planning "continuing and increasing violence" with the aim of gaining complete control.—U.P.I.

Pilgrims Ill

Paris, June 15. About 140 French pilgrims were taken ill today with suspected food poisoning after an annual pilgrimage to a Catholic shrine at Issoudun, central France.—China Mail Special.

Macao Takes Action To Ease Water Situation

Macao, June 16. On the fourth day of water restriction the population of his city is feeling the apprehension they had never had before.

The anxiety is mainly due to the fact that water only reaches the lowest districts during the supplying hours.

Meanwhile, in order to ease the situation Army water tanks are working in conjunction with those of the water authorities to deliver water to the districts where the liquid is not available.

The health authorities are taking steps to prevent any epidemic outbreak due to this unusual spell of drought.

It was reported yesterday that the water company had managed to pump fresh river water into the reservoir for a period of four hours, and is hoping to be able to do the same everyday from now on until the next season.—France-Press.

BUS RUNS OFF HIGHWAY: 20 INJURED

Atlanta, June 15.

A Greyhound bus ran off a four-lane highway and overturned during a heavy rainstorm minutes after leaving the Atlanta depot today. Twenty persons were injured, none of them seriously. No one was killed.

The bus carried 28 passengers. Ambulance attendant David Hostetler said seven ambulances carried 22 persons to the hospital and none appeared to be "critically injured."

Hostetler quoted a passenger, Mrs O. L. Starnes of Atlanta, as saying the driver apparently lost control of the bus in a driving rainstorm. The vehicle plunged down a 25-foot embankment and rolled on its side.—U.P.I.

De Gaulle To Re-Visit Algeria

Algiers, June 15. General Charles de Gaulle will pay a second visit to Algeria next month, it was learned tonight.

Authoritative sources said the French leader, who came here on June 4-7 after his accession to power, would return before July 14, the French National holiday which commemorates the storming of the Bastille.

The sources said de Gaulle would spend most of his time touring rural areas and getting a first-hand look at the Algerian war. His Secretary-General for Algerian affairs, Rene Brouillet was due to arrive tonight from Paris to confer with Army Commander General Raoul Salan.—U.P.I.

A DEVELOPING SITUATION WHICH MIGHT WORSEN

Lebanon Evacuation Scare

Beirut, Lebanon, June 15.

U.S. Ambassador Robert McClintock today asked the State Department to put the Lebanon on an "alert status" to pave the way for the evacuation of the dependents of government employees.

The State Department granting of his request was expected to be automatic.

U.S. AUTO UNIONS IN DETROIT

STRIKE THREAT

Detroit, June 15. Members of the United Auto Workers Union at General Motors, now working without union contracts as a result of the breakdown of negotiations between union leaders and the major car manufacturers, voted this weekend overwhelmingly in favour of strike action if necessary to enforce their demands for higher rates and greater benefits.

A total of nine local union branches authorised the strike vote, part of the U.A.W.'s programme of gradually putting the 250 union branches at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler in a prepared position to strike should the deadlocked contract negotiations fail to resume successfully.

A strike is not expected yet, however, for the powerful U.A.W. at present is adhering to a policy of keeping its half-a-million members in the plants of the "big three" manufacturers on the job.

An immediate strike would not be effective while the car manufacturers have a 50-day supply of unsold new cars on hand. A strike, if it occurred, would be more likely to begin later this year when the new 1959 models are beginning to roll off the assembly lines.

Negotiations for new contracts on the expiry of previous ones broke down after prolonged talks between union leaders and the managements of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler earlier this month—Reuters.

Competition To Find The Snowman

Katmandu, Nepal, June 15. The American expedition to find the abominable snowman ended in failure today.

The U.S. team returned here today to report it had not sighted the snowman, a creature only two white men claim to have seen but which forms an important part of folk legend in the Himalayas.

The expedition was headed by Dr. Russell M. Bishop, a geologist and photographer Norman Dyrenforth and several Sherpa porters.

The snowman, or yeti, was reported by a Chinese soldier and a Polish war prisoner who escaped Russia via the Himalayas.

It is supposed to be thick-set, measure from five to nine feet tall, have reddish-grey hair and to walk like a stooped human being.

The Russians have an expedition underway in their own Pamir Mountains, where P. P. Slonim reported his find—U.P.I.

T.V. Trouble

Washington, June 15. The Lebanese Foreign Minister, Charles Malik, cancelled plans to fly to New York today to be interviewed on a television show.

Embassy sources said he was staying in Washington to maintain contact with the diplomatic authorities, in view of the situation in Lebanon.

Mr. Malik has been here since Thursday. He was to have appeared tonight on "Open Hearing," a programme of the American Broadcasting Company network. A Lebanese delegate to the United Nations is taking his place—U.P.I.

Smoker's Bogey

London, June 15.

Accompanied holidays by the sea for people seeking a cure for heavy smoking are planned for this summer by the Society of Non-Smokers.

The society said today it would send companions to help "patients" overcome their "weak moments."

The scheme is being planned by three doctors including Dr. Lennox Johnston, of Wallasey, Cheshire, president of the society.

A spokesman said that every effort would be made to "make it a real holiday."

Hotels would be chosen by the society.

The companions would be careful not to preach or harp on smoking but would be on hand at danger moments—such as "after meals"—China Mail Special.

FIRST BOAC PLANE SINCE SUEZ

Nkrumah In Cairo

Cairo, June 15.

The United Arab Republic gave Dr Kwame Nkrumah, Prime Minister of Ghana, a warm welcome when he arrived here today from Casablanca in the course of a tour of independent African states.

President Nasser shook him warmly by the hand at the airport and said "Welcome, welcome. I am so happy to see you here."

A 21-gun salute sounded as the British Overseas Airways liner touched down—the first B.O.A.C. plane to land here since the Suez crisis.

Dr Nkrumah reviewed a white-uniformed Guard of Honour, shook hands with members of the Egyptian cabinet and Commonwealth Diplomats, then drove to El-Alhara Palace through streets decorated with triumphal arches.

At El-Alhara Palace Dr Nkrumah met for the first time his mother-in-law, Mrs Mounira Morcus, and his wife's three young sisters.

President Nasser and Dr Nkrumah began formal talks tonight in the presidential palace at Koubbeh—Reuters.

General De Gaulle

Washington, June 15.

In a leading editorial entitled "De Gaulle in the cross-fire" the politically independent and widely-quoted Washington Post said today that if the French premier succeeds in his tasks he will be ranked as the greatest French statesman since Richelieu, but right now he is menaced from both right and left.

"The more recent behaviour of the French militarists who engineered the revolts in Algeria and Corsica... leaves little doubt that it was their intention to use General de Gaulle and his reputation as a facade behind which to reestablish a form of military absolutism on the Bonapartist model," the Post wrote.

"Meanwhile the French Communists... have now disclosed their purpose of attempting to organise a new popular front to frustrate General de Gaulle's reforms, to defeat his constitution in the popular referendum next Autumn and to fight to the death for the preservation of the plenary power of the assembly."

"The threat of civil war in France, with all the disastrous consequences it would mean for the rest of the world, has not been altogether removed by General de Gaulle's assumption of power," the Post continued.

"It must be said, however, that the premier has given not the slightest intimation that he will allow himself to be intimidated by either the right or left... that very quality of haughty intransigence in General de Gaulle's personality, which so exasperated practical politicians like Franklin Roosevelt and Winston Churchill, may now prove the salvation of his government and of France."—U.P.I.

LOGAN GOURLAY... Back-about-town-again!

So this is London again. They have been telling me its happenings would surprise me after four months' absence on a round-the-world trip. They have.

For example, here is the surprising story of Mr Frank Sinatra and Miss Doreen Dawn and a dinner invitation. I am not likely to be elected president of a Sinatra fan club as readers of this column probably know. And Mr Sinatra is not likely to form any fan clubs for me.

But I try to be fair. downstairs. Which is where And if Mr Sinatra deserves I ran into her, sitting a garland, let him have it. alone. With my compliments.

The other night Miss Doreen Dawn, a tall girl of many talents — ex-beauty queen, showgirl, model, and singer — was invited to join the Sinatra party for dinner.

After cocktails at the Dorchester they went to Stip's Club where they had more cocktails at the bar. But when Mr Sinatra signalled it was time to move upstairs to the dining-room Miss Dawn decided she would prefer to stay

A change

She said: "I just felt I didn't want to have dinner and I wanted a change of company."

Many a man, particularly a much-pursued Hollywood star, would have reacted badly. He might even have slapped the lady or at least said something quite nasty to her.

Not Mr Sinatra. He accepted the situation graciously. And quietly.

So a Gurlay garland to Sinatra. For behaving like a gentleman.

And another to Miss Dawn. There cannot be many girls in London or any other town who would pass up an opportunity of dining with Mr Sinatra. It takes character. Or something.

SURPRISING STREET-CRIES of London Town.

The American tourist was paying off a taxi at the bottom of Fleet Street, and looking towards the dome of St Paul's. He shouted to the driver:—

"What's the big tower thing down there?"

For a moment the driver looked as though he would break right down and cry.

I meet 'em!

Surprising sight in Cy Laurie's, one of those jazz clubs which look like underground bus terminals.

A young man living energetically wearing a pith helmet. He said in a clipped public school accent: "I see no reason why I shouldn't wear a pith helmet if I want to!"

I told him I had been all over the Middle and Far East without meeting one Englishman wearing a pith helmet for any reason.

Another young man sat in a corner with a volume of Shakespeare's plays open on his dangle-legged knees.

He said: "I don't see why I shouldn't read Shakespeare right here if I want to. Anyway it's the interval."

He was 18; his name was O'Shane; and he had a haircut like Marion Brando when he played Antony in the film of "Julius Caesar."

O'Shane was a reading "Anthony and Cleopatra." The band struck up "Alexander's Ragtime Band."

Those twins

Surprising telegram, which I received a few days ago:— "Imperative you come to Rome to see Pope with twins." Signed "Lynn Ackers."

Explanation: Mr. Ackers is the high-powered American advertising executive and boss of an international clinic for holding men and women.

He took that group of identical twins to Rome to be examined at a genetics clinic as the first step in an experiment to prove that baldness is not hereditary.

He had also arranged that the twins should have an audience of the Pope (who is, of course, not involved in the experiment).

I don't know why my presence was considered imperative. Anyway, I was unable to go. ... to see Pope with twins."

Agreed!

NOT-SO-SURPRISING QUOTE from Hollywood courier Don Loper as he looked around the "debbys" set of young ladies at that exclusive 400 Club.

"I've never seen such a collection of badly dressed uncouth frumps." Agreed, Mr Loper.

That key

Surprising mission for me. Columbia Films have given me a gold-plated key to present to Trevor Howard, now filming in Paris.

It is a souvenir of his outstanding performance in the Columbia film "The Key," opposite SOPHIA LOREN.

As far as I know it does not open the door to Miss Loren's apartment. In fact, I don't think it opens anything.

Memo to Mr Howard: We'll try it on a cocktail cabinet when you get back.

These clubs

Surprising clubs in the London I came back to. Rather shocking clubs.

These strip-tease clubs which have sprung up in and around Soho. They start at 2.30 in the afternoon and present shows that no theatre would dare present. No censorship if it's a club.

I first of all investigated the Raymond revue bar, which is located in Brewer Street, no more than the length of a G-string from Wardour Street, the home of the British film industry.

It was a bright afternoon and the sun was shining on the balcony in the Soho shop windows.

Halfway up the stairs to the Raymond establishment a full-sized, half-dressed young lady of cut-out cardboard brandished a handful of winking candles.

Through the lounge bar and into the theatre or the room where the Folies Strip-tease is presented.

Heavy curtains were drawn to shut out the revealing sunlight, and the chandelier, which I discovered later was real crystal and worth about £1,000, was dimmed.

Exception

The audience, exclusively male, of course, with the exception of a bold-looking lady, sat at small tables grouped round the apron stage.

There were other tables set out in rows to the back of the room on a rising ramp so that no member's view could be obscured by a bald head.

The tables round the stage were filled.

Sitting at one, which was almost on the stage, was General de Gaulle. At least a man who looked exactly like General de Gaulle.

He had the same hawk-like nose. As he watched the performance his head swivelled round on his long, stiff-backed trunk, and I could see that his eyes had the same reptilian, dedicated look.

Paul Carpenter, actor, who was also in the audience and who is a loyal French Canadian, was ready to shout "Vive de Gaulle!"

I am delighted to report, however, that he turned out to be a commercial traveller in from-mongery who has not even been on a day trip to Dieppe. Vive le commerce.

The prize

The M.C., a grey-haired gentleman, who looked a little like Prime Minister Macmillan, was one of the highlights of the show—"this afternoon's heat in the amateur striptease contest. The lucky girl who wins the final will get a prize of £2,000."

"Our first contestant this afternoon is a practising nurse. She is only 22 and her name is Pamela."

It was a very tall, blonde, and slightly angular nurse who came through the curtains wearing a blue dress and a little blue hat.

The hat was one of the last things she took off.

She was followed by a brunette called Lee. The M.C. said: "She's 22 and she's the clerk to the town clerk. But I won't tell you what town."

She stripped unsmilingly as though she were doing it as a civic duty.

After the amateurs came the professionals, and something which the programme called "Britain's most popular game-the Strip-Tease Quiz."

The poses

The girls posed in nude and nearly-nude tableaux, and the audience had to guess what sort and play titles they represented.

The prize was a gilt "Oscar" — a plaster figure of a nude girl, of course. It was "awarded for knowledge."

I am not ashamed to admit that I did not win the Oscar. Neither did Paul Carpenter, who offered "The Bridge on the River Kwai" for every answer.

I met one of the professional performers, a dark, sturdy girl called Rene Lestair who started her undraped career at the Windmill.

She said: "This pays better than ordinary chorus work. And it doesn't worry me. It's just a job like any other. Like scene-shifting."

"What you do on the stage has nothing to do with your private life."

"Sometimes we get very nice people in the audience."

"I got a letter recently from a vicar. He said he remembered me from his student days at the Windmill. He even invited me to the vicarage to have tea with his wife."

"You see, we don't get Tom, Dick and Harry dropping in off the street. You have to be a member."

That's it. Anything goes. If you have a membership card. I have been asked if clubs like these don't make London the wickedest city in the world. I don't think so. After all, the vicar approves.

It's all the most hypocritical city in the world. Not the wickedest... if you don't count the swelling number of street-walkers.

So sad

SURPRISING-AND SAD fact about the funeral during the week of much-loved Harry Green, friend of everyone in show business.

Total number of mourners at Golders Green Crematorium: 14.

BUT I know I was back home in Great Britain and greater London.

WHEN I took me five minutes to get the G.P.O. operator for a trunk call.

WHEN I discovered that part of a new dual-carriageway road near Chiswick which was uncompleted when I left home more than three months ago is still uncompleted. As far as I can see not a stone has been added.

WHEN I was told in a large bar that I could not have food next week.

WHEN I was charged, is for trunk, and I could see that his eyes had the same reptilian, dedicated look.

THE REV. ROBERT COLEMAN takes a look at the men in gaiters How human are the bishops?

BRITAIN is filling up with bishops. From the four corners of the Earth three hundred and more are here or on their way for the Lambeth conference, which takes place once every 10 years, and will start this year on July 3.

What are they like, these bishops with their shaven heads, aprons and gaiters? How human are they? Is a bishop like other men? Can he make his own bed, drive a car, weed the garden, or grow irritable with his wife?

My boss is a bishop and whenever he is around I am all thumbs and desperately anxious to please. The man in the street, however, is unlikely to adopt this deferential air, and it is on his behalf that I put the question: "How human are bishops?"

The Bishop of Gloucester, the Rt. Rev. Wilfred M. Askwith, told me: "The question is no more relevant to the situation than it would be to ask, 'How human are doctors?' 'How human are trade union officials?' 'How human are town clerks?'"

REVISED

"The answer is: 'Exactly as human as all the others.'"

I presume the thought behind this is: "Of course we are human. We do our job, don't we, to the best of our ability?" Unfortunately, it is not always this criterion that the man in the street judges humanity.

Oxford (bishops take the name of the diocese) faced the question with wit. "I have never before been asked to try to reply whenever I can and in my own hand. I like to accept invitations that may have nothing to do with the Church."

The Bishop of Truro the Rt. Rev. Edmund R. Morgan, had me revising all my preconceived ideas about the episcopacy when he told me a delightful story.

"I don't think," he said, "that Bishop High would be offended at the disclosure of this incident. During the last war I had to attend a meeting in Southampton and being short of petrol pedalled down from Winchester on a push bike."

When it was explained to the bishop in the vestry that the church had in fact been erected to mark the occasion when a Prime Minister was assassinated by a lunatic, he nodded sympathetically. "Seems a pity to let these old customs die out."

Since, ultimately, bishops are drawn from the general public, perhaps the best way of answering the question is to ask: popping a bicycle in the back of "How human am I?"

Those with any doubt on this problem "How human are bishops?" should cultivate the acquaintance of London's own bishop, the Rt. Rev. Henry C. Hills is the solemn mien of the true humorist and the most startling remarks are attributed to him.

Like best the story of his visit to an Ealing church.

When it was explained to the bishop in the vestry that the church had in fact been erected to mark the occasion when a Prime Minister was assassinated by a lunatic, he nodded sympathetically. "Seems a pity to let these old customs die out."

Since, ultimately, bishops are drawn from the general public, perhaps the best way of answering the question is to ask: popping a bicycle in the back of "How human am I?"

The object of the quiz was to find out if you are easily taken in. And here is how you fared.

OVER 45. Anyone would have to get up very early in the morning to get round you. You think before you act, and are not deceived by appearances.

20-45. Your judgment is usually sound, but at times you can be too easily attracted by the look of things.

UNDER 20. You rely on first impressions. This may be dangerous—a rose can have a thorn!

The following were eliminated: Austria, Mexico, Argentina, Paraguay and Scotland.

The quarter-final will be played on June 19 as follows:
At Malmö—Germany v. Yugoslavia.
At Norrköping—France v. Czechoslovakia or Northern Ireland.
At Stockholm—Sweden v. Russia or England.
At Gothenburg—Brazil v. Wales or Hungary.
The following qualifying matches will be played on Tuesday:
At Malmö—Czechoslovakia v. Northern Ireland.
At Stockholm—Hungary v. Wales.
At Gothenburg—Russia v. England.

Brazil...2 Russia...0

Goteborg, June 15.
Brazil beat the Soviet Union by two goals to nil. The half-time score was 1-0.

Brazil were off to a flying start. In the first minute of play, Russian goalkeeper Yashin was completely beaten by shots from Garrucha and Pele, but luckily for the Soviet team, both hit the bar.

In the second minute, however, the Brazilians gained their reward. Vava took a short pass from Didl, swept past Krievski and shot into the net past the outstretched hands of the diving Yashin.

The Brazilians, playing a fast and skilful game, completely overpowered the Russians, and during the first quarter hour of the match the ball hardly once entered their own half of the field.

In the 11th minute, Garrucha took a pass from Vava close to the corner flag, and only the unorthodox tactics of the Russian goalkeeper prevented the Brazilian team increasing its lead.

During the last quarter hour of the first half, the Russians rallied their forces but they were powerless to penetrate the fast moving Brazilian defence.

At the same time, the close marking of Barinich by Kuznetsov and Krievski foiled numerous attempts at a breakthrough by the Brazilians, and the first half ended with the score 1-0 in favour of the South Americans.

An element of force entered the game in the 62nd minute. Charged by Didl, Yashin placed the ball straight into the hands of the Brazilian forward, who taken completely by surprise was too astounded at this novel manoeuvre to refuse it.

Amid roars of laughter from the crowd, the referee took the ball from Didl, handed it back to Yashin and ordered play to resume without a free kick to the Russians.

After the light-hearted incident, play began again in earnest and there was a dangerous moment for the Brazilians when Ivanov took a free kick in the 68th minute. But the Brazilians were the more effective team in attack and six minutes later Vava took a pass from Pele, dribbled past Krievski and shot into the net past the helpless Yashin.

But Vava did not have long to enjoy his triumph. His exuberant teammates showered such violent congratulations on him that he was knocked unconscious on the grass and had to be carried off the field.

Austria...2 England...2

Borox, June 15.
Austria and England drew two-all. Half-time score was one-nil in Austria's favour.

Marking was close at the beginning of the game but the English half started several movements forcing the game into the Austrian goal-mouth. A particularly good shot from Douglas was saved by the Austrian goalkeeper Szanwald. The Austrians counter-attacked and Senekovitch shooting after a corner forced Macdonald to dive for the ball.

Play then returned to the Austrian half and a foul charge by Hoppel led to a free kick. In the 15th minute Kohler scored from a corner taken by Buzek after which all Macdonald's efforts were needed to drive off successive Austrian attacks.

At this period the English players showed down and the Austrians were always menacing. After a shot by Buzek which went over the bar, England was forced to concede a corner and Macdonald had to dive full length to save the shot which followed it.

The game then rapidly moved from one half to the other. Senekovitch was injured and was limping badly. Two English attempts to score failed just at half-time Austria was still leading 1-0.

The Austrian goalkeeper Szanwald repulsed several English attacks but in the 50th minute he pushed out a shot from Acourt and Haynes had no difficulty in scoring.

The English were wildly cheered by their supporters while Szanwald seemed to lose some of his earlier brilliance.

In spite of frantic efforts on either side there was no further score. Macdonald saved a shot by Senekovitch and Szanwald, and the result was a draw with two goals each.

France...2
Scotland...1

Orebro, June 15.
France beat Scotland by two goals to one in their second round match here tonight in the World Football Cup championships. Half-time score was 2-0.

France went rapidly into action and in the second minute the Scottish goalkeeper Brown was obliged to concede a corner after a powerful shot from Wiesnietki. Marcel took a header and after a second corner, taken by Kopa, Fontaine hit the net.

Scotland hit back with two counter-attacks, but France soon returned to the assault, and a shot by Planton in the eighth minute followed by a header from Fontaine in the tenth, were only narrowly saved by Brown.

The Scots again went into action, but Planton took the ball from McKay and sent a long pass out to Fontaine on the right wing. Fontaine, tackled through a splendid centre by Kopa who crashed the ball into the net to put France ahead 1-0.

The undaunted Scots once more took up the attack, and a confused scramble developed around the French goal-mouth, in the course of which referee Brozzi of Argentina awarded a penalty against France.

Hewie's kick was more remarkable for its force than its accuracy and the ball bounced back into play off the French upright.

The ensuing scrummage 20 yards from the French goal ended in a free kick for France and the game again swung into their favour.

Soon after the resumption, Kopa missed a centre from Planton, and two minutes later Muttie let slip a chance for Scotland when he fumbled the ball and let Abbes collect within feet of the French goal-mouth.

In the 68th minute Baird took a midfield pass from Murray, dodged past Fontaine and sent a low shot into the corner of the French net, well out of reach of Abbes' desperate dive.

The Scottish success brought new life to the game with vigorous but unproductive attacks by both forward lines.

Abbes dived under the feet of Muttie in the 69th minute to save the French goal, but it was Scottish goalkeeper Brown who had the most to do.

In the 72nd minute he pulled off a brilliant save from a penalty kick by Kopa, and a minute later he collected the ball off Fontaine's boots after a dangerous opening by Penverne.

The game closed in a series of desperate attacks and counter-attacks with Brown making another magnificent save off Wiesnietki, but neither side was able to increase the score and the game ended in a well deserved win for France by 2-1.

Hungary...4
Mexico...0

Sandviken, June 15.
Hungary beat Mexico by four goals to nil.

Mexico kicked off against the wind but the Hungarians opened the attack with shots by Nemesi and Hengstl, both passing over the bar.

In the 15th minute, Sander fumbled a shot off a pass from Tichy, but by this stage of the game the Hungarians clearly held the advantage.

Their forward came in the 20th minute when Tichy after an exchange of passes with Sander sent the ball into the net to put Hungary one up.

The Hungarians continued to dominate the play, and only narrowly missed scoring in the 24th minute, when Tichy shot just outside the post.

Soon after the beginning of the second half, Banics tore through the Mexican defence and sent through a pass. Tichy put his foot to it and Sander helped it on its way crashing into the goal to put Hungary two up.

Shortly afterwards Tichy was back before the goal mouth and summoned at goal, but an over-exultant defender had grabbed the Hungarian's jersey and the referee gave a free kick. Tichy shot. The ball bounced back off the Mexican defence on to Sander's foot.

Sander sent through a cracking shot which beat Carbal and gave Hungary their third goal. Budai slammed a ball hard into goal. It crossed the goal line where Cardenas caught it with his foot and booted it out into play. Despite protests from the Mexican players, the referee, after consulting the linesman gave Hungary the goal. And the final whistle went on the score of 4-0 in the Hungarians' favour.

Slovakia...6
Argentina...1

Helsingborg, June 15.
Czechoslovakia beat Argentina by six goals to one. Half-time score was 3-0 in Czechoslovakia's favour.

Their speed gave the Czechs an advantage over the Argentine team from the beginning of the game, but several times their attacks were broken up by the solid defence play of Dellache, Rossi and Valre.

The Argentines made a dangerous attack in the fourth minute, but they then returned to their half, and in the eighth minute Dvorak scored the first Czech goal from 30 metres after a centre by Zikan.

The Argentines rallied and a minute later a shot from Cruz was saved by the Czech goalkeeper, Dolejal.

Play at this stage though dominated by the Czechs was excellent on both sides. A shot by Zikan in the 12th minute was well saved by the Argentine goalkeeper Carrizo, but Zikan succeeded in beating him in the 18th minute to make the score 2-0 for Czechoslovakia.

After this second goal, the Argentines attacked vigorously and were awarded a free kick after Labruna had been foully tackled.

Labruna took this himself and almost immediately afterwards took an unsuccessful shot at the Czech goal.

Horka was slightly injured in the knee and had to leave the field though only for a short time.

In the 38th minute, a shot from Hovvika was saved by the Argentine goalkeeper who could not however control the ball. Zikan ran up to score his side's third goal, giving the Czechs a lead at half-time of 3-0.

Argentina attacked from the beginning of the second half, playing much faster than before, with its forward line well supported by the half backs.

In the 65th minute Avio looked like scoring but was fouled by Populhar. In the 67th minute Carrizo took the penalty giving the Czech goalkeeper no chance whatever and made the score 3-1.

After this the South Americans began to tire, but although the Czechs dominated the game, Hovvika pressed in the 80th minute. The Czechs then took the game into the Argentine half again. Carrizo left his goal area and Pleureish scored, but the goal was disallowed.

In the 83rd minute, however, Hovvika pressed in the Czech advantage home with a fifth goal, and scored again in the 89th in spite of his injury.

France...2
Yugoslavia...3

Ekilstuna, June 15.
Paraguay and Yugoslavia draw three-all. Half-time score was 2-1 in Yugoslavia's favour.

Yugoslavia held a slight advantage in the early stages of the game which was played before a crowd of some 20,000 under grey skies and on a pitch that was still hardly dry after the recent rains.

In the 12th minute Petakovic dribbled past the Paraguayan goalkeeper who was well outside the posts and Oganovic beat the difficulty in putting the ball into the net off a short pass.

In the 20th minute Parodi took a ground level pass from Aguerro and Beira dived a split second too late to save the equaliser.

Eight minutes later Yugoslavia again went into the lead when Veselinovic sent the ball into the corner of the net from a pass by Petakovic.

The Yugoslav forwards now controlled the game but they were unable to increase their lead and at half-time the score was still 2-1 in their favour.

Paraguay kept up a steady pressure in the opening minutes of the second half and five minutes after the resumption a lightning assault by Parodi and Aguerro left the Yugoslav defence bewildered and Parodi crashed in the equaliser just the completely baffled Beira.

The Yugoslavians reopened the score in the 63rd minute with a well aimed shot by Rajkov past the unsettled Aguilera.

The Paraguayan equaliser was the most incredible goal of the whole match. The Yugoslav goalkeeper once again overestimated the ability of his defence line. A gentle tap from Romero caught him so much by surprise that he could only stand and watch as the ball went into the net and the match ended in a 3-3 draw.

Wales...0
Sweden...0

Wales, who were given little chance of surviving in the competition earned at least a play off for the right to enter the quarter-finals when they held Sweden to a goalless draw.

Sweden were not at full strength. But they were still superior to Wales as the half-backs prevented a Swedish victory.

Their defence was more than capable of holding the Welsh forwards, and the half-backs never lost their grip on the game.

Wales at last made full use of John Charles. In previous matches he had been very much the centre-forward, but today he played a deep game, patrolling the middle of the field, setting up moves from Allchurch and Hewitt to finish off. But he had to go back so often to help his defence that his effectiveness in front of goal was virtually nil.

Charles played for most of the match with a deep cut over his left eye. Afterwards he had two stitches inserted.

Dave Bowen, left-half and captain, Jack Kelsey, goalkeeper, and centre-half Mel Charles were the heroes of today's draw with Bowen, the fast, clever Welsh forward always looked dangerous and it would have come as no surprise if they had won by two or three goals.

The Swedes thought they should have had two goals but for decisions by the referee which went against them. They claimed that Vernon handled the ball when he deflected a shot in the penalty area in the 71st minute. Four minutes later they were again appealing for a goal when a header from centre-forward Kaellgren hit the underside of the bar and bounced down on the line before Kelsey scooped it away.

In both cases the referee waved play on, though he consulted a linesman on the second occasion.—Reuter.

Germany...2
N. Ireland...2

Malmö, June 15.
Germany and Northern Ireland drew two all. Half-time score was one all.—France-Press.

At the end of the lawn bowls League season, current first division League leaders, Kowloon Cricket Club fail to win the Championship, they will have cause to remember their match against Club de Recreo last Saturday.

Prior to the game they enjoyed a lead of four and half points over their nearest rivals, Recreo. The two other challengers Craigengower Cricket Club "A" and Indian Recreation Club were then an appreciable distance behind.

A 5-0 win would have given the Cricket Club an almost Championship-winning lead of nine and half points over Recreo, and even a 4-1 victory would have placed them in a favourable end of seven and half points.

But instead, the cricketers not only found themselves at the tail-end of a 4-1 score at the conclusion of the match but had almost surrendered the most favourable position to their victors.

Although they are now one and half points ahead of Recreo, Kowloon Cricket Club still have to contend with current holders, Craigengower Cricket Club "A" and Talook Club in their remaining two first-round fixtures, while Recreo will have comparatively easier opposition in Kowloon Bowling Green Club and Craigengower Cricket Club "B".

KCC's defeat on Saturday has also brought CCC "A" and IRC closer into the reckoning for the division's honours. However, KCC can draw some consolation and encouragement from the fact that all the three other top contenders for the title, Recreo, CCC "A" and IRC will be considerably weakened by the absence of some of their Empire Games bowlers when the second round matches begin.

Two Factors

Two factors played a major part in KCC's downfall on Saturday. One of course was the inability of the cricketers, and particularly of their front-men on two rinks to measure up to the standard of bowls put up by their opponents.

The other factor was the interchange of skips on two rinks. The first, Bill Hong Sling and Joe Landolt swapped their front-men.

After the first few heads it was evident that the changes were for the worse. The three and skip on both rinks were seen frequently either at variance with each other in the choice of shots to be played or could not understand what was really required of them. Even the ones and twos appeared to be upset.

There can be no doubt that the reshuffling was made with a view to strengthening the team, but it is nevertheless a pity that after doing so well in the last few matches, the combinations had to be altered in this crucial match.

Labouring under these handicaps, the cricketers were trailing on the aggregate throughout the major part of the game though they eventually lost by a margin of nine shots in a match that produced a slightly above-average standard of bowls.

KCC's defeat on Saturday has also brought CCC "A" and IRC closer into the reckoning for the division's honours. However, KCC can draw some consolation and encouragement from the fact that all the three other top contenders for the title, Recreo, CCC "A" and IRC will be considerably weakened by the absence of some of their Empire Games bowlers when the second round matches begin.

Two factors played a major part in KCC's downfall on Saturday. One of course was the inability of the cricketers, and particularly of their front-men on two rinks to measure up to the standard of bowls put up by their opponents.

The other factor was the interchange of skips on two rinks. The first, Bill Hong Sling and Joe Landolt swapped their front-men.

After the first few heads it was evident that the changes were for the worse. The three and skip on both rinks were seen frequently

Malaya Lose Thomas Cup

INDONESIA BEAT HOLDERS BY 6-3 IN CHALLENGE ROUND

SONNEVILLE AND TAN THE HEROES

Singapore, June 15.

Malaya tonight lost the Thomas Cup World Badminton Championship trophy to Indonesia.

Indonesia won 6-3 in the nine-game series. Malaya had held the cup since it was first contested 10 years ago, and had withstood three earlier challenges.

Malaya went under to a razor-sharp team, fighting fit and trained to a nicety.

The home team made only a fair fight for the Cup. They seemed to lack stamina, and on occasion after occasion they battled hard through a first set, only to collapse in the second or third.

The veteran Perry Sonneville and the schoolboy National Champion Tan King-gwan, first set of their doubles against Eddy Chong and Ooi Telk-hock.

They soon established a five point lead, but the Malaysians fought level at 5-5, and went on to lead 11-8.

The Indonesians calling on their seemingly boundless reserves of energy shot up to level, then went to 13-11.

But the Malaysians would not be beaten. They edged up to 13, with the Indonesians on match point. They were just too late, to make it count.

The Indonesians took the set 15-13.

The second set was a close and hard-fought struggle.

The Indonesians opened, but the Malaysians levelled at 2-2.

The two pairs then advanced slowly in leap-frog fashion to 8-8.

Eddy Chong was taking a bad hammering from the Indonesians, and he fell into frequent errors.

However, from 8-8 the Malaysians tightened up their play, and drew ahead.

They took the set 15-9, and the rubber set was conceded to them by the Indonesians.

The Indonesians took the set 15-13.

The Indonesians won the Thomas cup worthily.

In the inter-zone semi-final they had beaten the highly-favoured Danes by six matches to three. Then they overcame Thailand 8-1 in the inter-zone final.

They were ready for their victory tonight.

With the Cup won, they rushed on to the court with red and white garlands for Tan Joe-hock and Perry Sonneville.

Across the garlands were the words "Hidup Indonesia—Long Live Indonesia."

The Governor of Singapore, Sir William Goode, the Chief Minister, Mr. Lim Yew-hock, the Commissioner-General, Sir Robert Scott, and two Malay Sultans were in the crowd that stood to cheer them.

After tonight's matches, Eddy Chong told reporters: "We were a good team, but we just did not have any luck."

"The Indonesians were really too good."

Perry Sonneville said: "The main difference between the Malaysians and us was that we were fitter."

TAMANAR WINS FRENCH DERBY FROM FAVOURED BELLA PAOLA

Paris, June 15.
M. Francois Dupre's fifty Bella Paola, winner of two English classics, failed by threequarters of a length in her bid to capture the French Derby, the Prix Du Jockey Club, at Chantilly near here today.

The one and a half miles race was won by the 30 to one Spanish-owned outsider, Senor Ramon Beaumont's Tamamar, ridden by Jean Deforge.

Bella Paola, the first filly to run in the French Derby this century, moved up smoothly in the straight, but Tamamar, making his effort at the same time, pulled out the better finishing speed.

The filly, starting favourite at about 2 to one has lost only one other race in her career and took this season's English 1,000 Guineas and Oaks.

Bella Paola, was ridden by Serge Boulenger. M. Jean Sierra's Popin Le Bre which took third place, was ridden by Leon Flavien. Fourth place was taken by M. Victory Lyon's San Roman (Roger Poincelot).

Tamamar won by three-quarters of a length from Bella Paola, with two lengths between second and third. Seventeen ran. Tamamar started at odds of about 30 to one, paying 305 francs for a ten-franc win stake on the parimutuel.

Place dividends were: 63, 21 and 34 francs.

Bella Paola, the favourite, would have paid 33 francs for a win.

Tamamar, by Sunny Boy out of Tressa, is trained in France by John Cunningham.—Reuter.

Pastrano Gains A Points Decision

Italy, June 15.

Willie Pastrano (U.S.), ranked third contender for Floyd Patterson's world title, outpointed Franco Cavichini (Italy), former European Heavyweight Boxing Champion, over ten rounds here tonight.—Reuter.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Editor, China Mail
Sir,—Could you or any of your readers inform me the unlighted as to whether the winning car, an M. V. Augustus, driven by John Surtees in the Isle of Man Senior Tourist Trophy Race—as reported in Friday's edition of your paper—had a front-wheel drive?

"HALF-SHAFT"

(Error regretted. The T.T. Race being a motor-cycle event, the word "car" in the caption should have read "motor-cycle".—Sports Ed.)

Four Thousand Pigeons Lost In Race

London, June 16.

Four thousand pigeons, worth thousands of pounds are reported today to have been lost in a race through mist.

The pigeons, many of them champions, were released in Edinburgh eight days ago for a 300-mile race.

The Daily Herald reports that last night only 45 birds had completed the journey.

The newspaper adds: "It is thought that the rest of the birds flew into a bank of mist shortly after being released."

"Then, after flying for miles off course, they fell exhausted to the ground."

The birds are valued at between three sterling and 100 sterling each and were not insured.—China Mail Special.

NATIONAL LEAGUE Hanebrink Hits A Two-Run Homer To Give Milwaukee Braves 4-2 Victory Over Cards

New York, June 15.

Harry Hanebrink, who admits to a .169 batting average, clouted a two-run homer in the ninth inning today to give the Milwaukee Braves a 4-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals to maintain their game-and-a-half lead in the National League.

Hanebrink's game-winning clout, his fourth homer of the year, came off Lindy McDaniel and capped a three-run rally by the Braves in an uphill fight.

In other National League games today, the Cincinnati Reds swept a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs, 7-0 and 4-2. At Worthington pitched the San Francisco Giants to a 3-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies, and the Pittsburgh Pirates blasted the Los Angeles Dodgers, 12-1.

The Cardinals, although they collected only four hits against the Braves, carried a 2-0 lead into the late innings on a two-run homer by Joe Cunningham in the sixth. But the Braves scored once in the eighth when Morrie Martin, relieving San Jose's with the bases loaded, balked. In the ninth, Martin walked Hank Aaron, with one out and when Frank Torre singled, gave way to McDaniel.

Aaron scored the tying run on Johnny Logan's squeeze bunt, but Torre was thrown out trying for third. But then Hanebrink connected to win the game for relief pitcher Don McMahon.

Eight Hitter
Worthington went the distance with an eight-hitter to win for the Giants, allowing the Phillies only one unearned run. Jim Davenport drove in Felipe Alou twice with singles for the Giants and Alou drove in the other with a double.

The Pirates clouted three homers during a five-run second inning against the Dodgers to knock out Don Newcombe and then added six more runs in the fifth inning. This slugging made it easy for Vern Law to pitch the distance for his seventh win of the year. Law himself hit one of the pirate homers.

American League
The Detroit Tigers completed a stunning four-game series sweep over the American League-leading New York Yankees today by beating them in both ends of a doubleheader, 2-0 and 3-0, behind the shutout pitching of Frank Lary and Jim Bunning.

In other A. L. games today, the Kansas City Athletics smashed the Boston Red Sox twice, 17-6 and 9-4. Hoyt Wilhelm's relief pitching helped Cleveland to 5-3 and 4-2 victories over the Washington Senators, and the shutout hurling of Jim Wilson and Dick Donovan led the Chicago White Sox to 3-0 and 4-0 wins over the Baltimore Orioles.

The Key Blow
The Tigers beat two Yankee batters, Don Larsen and Bob Turley. Larsen suffered his first loss of the year after five wins in the opener when he gave up Detroit's runs in the seventh, adding his own downfall when he threw late to second base on an errant forecourt. Lary, a Yankee nemesis, fanned six batters.

Bunning whiffed eight New Yorkers in the nightcap. Turley, who suffered his second loss against 10 wins, struck out nine batters but gave up a single run in the fifth and two more in the sixth when Gail Harries triple was the key blow.

The Athletics who had lost six straight games to Boston, rose up in wrath with 29 hits in their twin bill, 17 in the opener, leading the onslaught was Bob Cury with his 17th homer of the year and three triples. Cury had only one triple in the opener, where newly-acquired Chico Carrasquel, bagged hits, but Bill Bol was counting down the nightcap and the Kansas City drive rolled up four runs in the inning for a lead it never relinquished. Duke Maua, later traded to the Yankees, won the nightcap after ex-Yankee Ralph Terry won the opener.

At Baltimore, Wilson allowed the Orioles only two hits in the first game and Donovan permitted only seven in the second as the White Sox ran their winning streak over Baltimore to seven games. Neither shot-out hurler issued a walk. Sherman Lollar drove in all three Chicago runs in the nightcap with a bases-loaded double.—U.P.I.

Modern Flats To Be Built

Plans to replace two 40-year-old houses with modern tenement-type flats were placed before a Tenancy Tribunal this morning in an exemption hearing
concerning Nos. 37 and 39
Coke-Street, Kowloon.

The Tribunal, comprising Mr.
Derok Cons (President), with Mr. H. T. Barma and Mr. A. O.
Barretto, received plans of the proposed new buildings, drawn up by Mr. Cheung Kit-lam, Authorized Architect.

In a report of the existing premises Mr. Cheung said that they were as whole in a poor
state of repair and their design
did not constitute a reasonably full economic use of the site.

Mr. W. C. R. Carr of Johnson,
Stokes and Master is representing
Mrs. Ho Ying-fan, the applicant, who said that she had purchased the property in September of last year for a sum of $2,000.

Cost of the two six-storied blocks will be about $120,000 and Mrs. Ho said that she had deposited in the bank with which it was her intention to rebuild and compensate opes-
sing tenants.

Some of the tenants who have filed opposing applications are unrepresented. Others are represented by Mr. Gerald De Basto, instructed by Peter Mo
and Co., and Mr. F. H. B. Wong of C. Y. Kwai & Co.

The hearing is continuing.

Death Of

Mr S. P.

Karanjia

Mr S. P. Karanjia, brother of Dr N. P. Karanjia, of Hongkong, passed away suddenly in England last Friday. It was learned today.

Mr Karanjia was for many years in Shanghai where he worked with the Standard Telephone Company. He rose from the rank of apprentice to officer in charge of the company after the Communists took over.

Later, Mr Karanjia left
Shanghai and joined Standard
Telephone in Britain.

Correction

In a caption describing a picture published last Saturday, it was stated that the dinner at the Gloucester Hotel in honour of the Indian Hockey Team at the Asian Games was given by Mr H. T. Barma. In fact, it was given by the Indian Community in Hongkong under the sponsorship of the New Bharat Club. The error is regretted.

ABANDONED CARS TO BE REMOVED

The Hongkong Police will soon begin removing a number of cars left abandoned in the Colony, if registered owners do not comply with Police requests to take them away.
Should a car be taken away
by the Police, and the owner
then decides to claim it back,
they will face prosecution in court, because it is an offence
to leave a car abandoned in the street.

Controlled this morning, Mr.
A. Morrison, Divisional Superintendent of Traffic said in all probability owners would have to pay a towage cost for the movement of the car to a place
of storage.

In addition, any necessary
repairs must be made before the vehicle would be allowed
again in the Colony's roads.
Registered owners of abandoned vehicles will be notified by post to remove their cars. If this is not complied with in a reasonable time, the Hongkong
Police will take the cars away.
If they are not claimed within three months they will be sold by public auction.

St James' Settlement Display

Boys and their teachers
from St James' Settlement
were busy in the Old Cathedral Hall yesterday
arranging the display of
tools from their workshop
for the St James' Exhibition which opens at 9.30
tomorrow morning.

Samples of work from the
printing process, handicrafts,
and machine tools were among the varied exhibits, which included a bedspace, typical of the kind used by many families
who live near to the Settlement.

SPECIMEN MEALS

Specimen meals, of the type
served to the average Wanchai
child were placed beside a cheap
meal of sufficient nutriment
which it is hoped will be available one day to every hungry
child in Wanchai and elsewhere.
St James' boxes made in the shape of wooden cottages are available at the Hall and several were distributed yesterday
morning among members of St John's Cathedral congregation
by Friends of St James'.

Three Injured In Road Mishaps

Cheung Yuet-hung, residing at 327 Shaukwan Road, ground floor, was injured yesterday
when the bicycle on which he was riding collided with a lorry in Main Street West, Shaukwan. The injured cyclist was admitted to Queen Mary Hospital.

Another cyclist, 25-year-old Miu Hung-chun, sustained serious injuries in a collision
with another bicycle in Portland Street, Shaukwan.
Since last night, Miu is receiving treatment at Kowloon
Hospital.

A five-year-old boy, Cheng
King-sang, was knocked down and injured by a bicycle near his home in Pau Chung Street, near Mr. Tai Koc Road, yesterday evening. The boy is being treated in Kowloon Hospital.

Architects' Lecture

Mr D. E. Gibson, recently appointed Director-General of Works in the War Office, will address a meeting of the Hongkong Society of Architects, to be held in the top floor lecture
room, Dept. of Architecture, Dunstan Street Building, University of Hongkong, on Wednesday, June 25, at 8.30 p.m.
and not on Wednesday, June 18, as published on Sunday.

Man Charged With Fraudulent Conversion

Fung Kwok-wah, 30 described as a manager of 11 Nam Cheung Street, third floor, appeared in Kowloon Court this morning on charges of fraudulent conversion
and public mischief.

Defendant, represented by Mr.
C. P. Lai of Peter Mo and Co., was remanded until Wednesday.
Detective Sub-Inspector K. Y.
Mo is in charge of the case.

Tele-News

Do you know why margarine was first made, or do you know how it was made?

There is often a very good story behind many of the everyday things which we take so much for granted and this week,
in the Monday Documentary at 7.45 this evening, Rediffusion
Television Service will present
"Call It Achievement".
This is the story of the conception, and development of margarine but it is told against a background of an inquisitive
newspaper office in the period
after the last war and strangely enough, quite apart from the absorbing story which it has to tell, it gives viewers a very authentic look at the inner working and planning of a great modern newspaper.

The leading part in the story
is told through the medium of John Bentley, the well-known British actor, personality, and the part of a feature writer who is given the assignment of investigating "The Story of Margarine".

Modern dance music falls will have their last opportunity of seeing and hearing the Franco Trombetta Quartet when they appear in the final programme
of their present series at 7.30 tonight. France and the boys will be playing
and singing a programme of "Viewer's Requests" and have compiled their programme from the items for which they have received the greatest number of letters.

There are two particular highlights in the Tuesday programme this week and viewers should make a special note of the "Celebrity Playhouse" presentation at 8.20 when Dore
Clark and Mala Powers co-star
in "Red House Hammer".
The evening feature at 9.30 provides the second
highlight when Belle Davis,
George Brent, Olivia De Havill-
land and Dennis Morgan get
together in a gripping story "In
This Our Life".

One of the most popular features amongst the regular items televised in Hongkong is the Wednesday Night story
presented by Douglas Fairbanks.
Each week, a new story is highlighted when Belle Davis,
George Brent, Olivia De Havill-
land and Dennis Morgan get
together in a gripping story "In
This Our Life".

For many years Paul Temple
has been an almost instant personality to the population in the United Kingdom through the medium of the many broadcasts
in which he is featured.
Generally these have been done,
from an audio point of view, as a serial but in more recent times longer stories have been made available for the motion picture industry and for television. Hongkong's viewers can see one of these on Thursday at 9.40 p.m. when
Patricia Dainton, Valentino Dyall and John Bentley play the leading roles in "Paul Temple Returns".

A timely reminder here for viewers that the new "Count of Monte Cristo" series is also screened on Thursday evening at 9.15 p.m. This is the second episode and has the title "The Pen and the Sword".

Looking through the week's schedule it seems that some of the special attractions have been declared in an interview, published here today.
Nasser declared to visiting Czech correspondents that "the present Lebanese Government" acted against "the will of the majority" by its "acceptance of the Eisenhower Doctrine and the Baghdad Pact"—U.P.I.

BY a fortunate accident (I

the Derby mousebroker, with its reference to the Thames

Springing to the defence of

SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING

Giant Electronic Brain

The largest electronic brain yet made in Western Europe for doing routine office work will soon be in use. The machine was designed in the Ferranti laboratories in Bracknell, England, at a cost of some £300,000. The name, Perceus, first two models will be exported — one to Stockholm, the other to Cape Town. Picture top shows an artist's impression of the complete installation of the Perceus computing system; picture bottom shows the centre view of Perceus—Express.

FISHING BOATS MAY BE AIRBORNE

NEARLY 300 experts on commercial sea fishing will travel from all over the world next year to pool their knowledge, and produce super efficient and safe fishing boats.

Some startling ideas are expected to be put forward. In a prospectus just issued stating the aims of the congress, this comment is made:

FLYING INLAND

"The fishing craft of the future might even be airborne with adjustable jets to keep them stationary at low speeds when fishing, and then flying with their catch to consumption centres far inland."

But the main object of the Second World in Fishing Boat Congress, being organised in Rome by the UN Food and Agriculture Organisation, is to try to combine the best methods of the hundreds of different and new ones, many of them conflicting, in different countries.

Officials feel that many fishermen are too hidebound by tradition, and that by adopting better ideas, used by trawlers and drifters elsewhere, they could boost their catches, make their craft more economical and safer.

PORTABLE POCKET RECORD PLAYER

A PORTABLE record player claimed to be so small it can fit in a coat pocket but is able to play a normal twelve-inch long-playing record is announced by a British firm.

The player does away with the turntable and provides simply a drive at the centre of the record, a transistored amplifier and a speaker all encased in an inch thick "sandwich" measuring four inches by eight. Any 45 r.p.m. or long playing record fits between the upper and "slices" of the sandwich, while the pickup forms part of the lid. The present model is battery driven and has a specially designed DC motor.

The manufacturers have plans to produce a mains unit about the same size to amplify through a radio.

At present the firm is particularly interested in selling their battery pocket record player in the United States. (Camp Bird Group, Camp Bird House, 39 Dover Street, London, W.1.)

Weekly Survey On American Economy

The RELUCTANCE To Buy

Chief Problem Facing The Economy

New York, June 15. Economists agreed last week that the chief problem facing the American economy is that of getting Americans to spend the money which they have readily available.

This reluctance to buy now extends both to individual Americans and to corporations. The people simply are not buying durable goods at the rate which will keep the factories and steel mills working at near-capacity, and corporations, equally skittish about prospects, are far below expectations of spending for new plants and equipment. Thus the spiral is set.

All business leaders and economic experts are agreed upon this: The long-range business prospects for America, and for the world, are very good. U.S. Government spending for new defence weapons has hardly been felt yet, but it has been stepped up from an annual rate of 22 billion from its previous nine billion. By 1959 that tremendous boost certainly will be felt everywhere. In Detroit, auto makers are sure that the 1959 models will sell six million cars, the accepted normal yearly figure, and U.S. Government employees, who will get a pay raise on Aug. 1, retentive to Jan. 1, will have greater buying power henceforth.

Long Range

Thus, argue the economists, with long-range prospects certain to be excellent, there is no reason for any worry now. People can and should spend freely for durable goods, and corporations can and should embark upon construction of new plants and equipment, sorely needed despite the record 37 billion spent last year.

The people do have the money, generally speaking. The unemployed must be careful of their resources, of course. In May there were 4.9 million unemployed in the U.S., two million more than in May of 1957. But there was a seasonal rise of 1.2 million in employment in May, bringing the nation's total employed to just above 64 million, the first time since Christmas that figure was reached.

And the 64 million employed Americans have on deposit in the country's mutual savings banks 32½ billion, more than three times the amount on deposit before World War II. It is estimated that money hoarded in safe deposit boxes and mattresses totals 100 billion, and the nation's commercial banks report time deposits of 60 billion.

Investors have put 43 billion in savings and loan associations and another 34½ billion, and there is 1.3 billion in postal 2.25 billion in Federal and State credit unions.

The grand total of money quickly available to thrifty Americans is 275.5 billion.

Confidence

"If public confidence continued to grow, if business continued to spur the upturn... the economy should continue to improve," said Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks.

Speaking to the corporations, William Vaughn of the management consultant firm of Bruce Payne & Associates said: "In this recession as usual most companies slashed drastically instead of pruning skillfully, wounding their corporate body more with each frenzied incision."

Said General Foods Corporation President Charles Mortimer: "I do not think it is an exaggeration to say that recessions begin and end in the minds of men. Nervousness in the front office about business prospects can be quickly translated into lowered expenditures."

Business nervousness was reflected in latest figures for outlays for new plants and equipment: For the first three months of 1958 it was at an annual rate of $2.4 billion, which is 4.4 per cent below the 1957 rate and 1.8 billion previous government forecasts for 1958. It is now estimated that the 1958 capital spending figures will be $1 billion, 17 per cent under last year's 37 billion.

Said Business Week magazine: "There's plenty of money around to support an upturn in the economy if only enough people could get their hands on it."

This factor apparently accounts for the uneasiness of European countries with the U.S. recession. West German Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard had no hesitancy in telling his audience and the press during his recent U.S. visit that the recession was of slight importance. British leaders too have not been worried, believing that the U.S. economy soon will be at full strength again and that even at its present levels it is not in any real trouble.

There is legitimate reason for optimism. U.S. News and World Report surveyed dozens of manufacturers and reported: "A good many companies have started rehiring workers; relatively few now are cutting back on production or laying off workers... some companies, not yet ready to step up operations, report a better flow of orders... improvement in most instances is regarded as more than seasonal... that is the broad picture—variations in and among industries are wide."

Auto-Making

Auto-making, which directly or indirectly accounts for one out of every six jobs in the U.S., remains weak. Through last week, U.S. factories had built 1,070,170 cars in 1958 compared to 1,000,000 in the same period of 1957. But Detroit plans big style changes for the 59 models—biggest changes since 1954—and automakers hope this stimulus, plus increasing confidence of the public in the general economic picture, will send sales back to 1957 levels.

Auto sales in May totaled 394,000 cars, 20 per cent under a year ago. But it was the best month of 1958 so far, and compared to 362,800 in April.

Perhaps the best indication of a return of the needed confidence is to be found in the stock market. Stock prices last week reached a new high for 1958, meaning that people with money to invest have been betting on a business upturn. Industrial stocks on the Dow Jones list have risen 12 per cent since last October's two year lows.—U.P.I.

RECESSION-RIDDEN AMERICANS GET AWAY FROM IT ALL

By MERRIMAN SMITH

Washington, June 15.

Lo, the recession-ridden American. He is drowning his sorrow in a new swimming pool or flying to Europe to forget it all.

Naturally, the man who is out of work due to the business slump is not among the swimming pool customers nor is he taking his family abroad.

But millions of his more fortunate countrymen are planning to spend more on recreation this year than in 1957. Pan American Airways reports that on the basis of current reservations, it expects that 188 of them showed this summer than ever before.

New Economy

The airline people say new economy flights and pay-later plans are partly responsible for the increase. But even on the cheapest flight it costs a couple more than $500 to fly to Europe and back.

The Swimming Pool Institute reports that more private pools will be built this year than ever before. Sporting goods manufacturers also forecast that 1958 will break existing sales records. Retail sales of sporting goods

Rubber Mission To Visit China

Kuala Lumpur, June 15. The Executive Committee of the Malaysian Rubber Traders' Association decided last night to send a 10-man mission to China to seek an expansion of trade.

The mission will leave for Peking in August. Singapore rubber traders have also decided to send a mission to China.

Besides looking for new markets, the missions will answer Chinese complaints as to the quality of Malaysian rubber.—Reuter.

Exchange Rates

Business was done in the local unofficial exchange market this morning at the following rates: U.S. dollar (per $1) 5.78; Australian notes (per £1) 10.93; Indian rupee (per £1) 12.33; Indonesian rupiah (per £1) 8.33; Siam baht (per £1) 2.30; Singapore dollar (per £1) 1.00.

Burst Of Strength Pushes Wall Street Up To New 1958 Highs

By EMLER WALZER

New York, June 15.

Stocks rested for a few sessions and then rallied to close the week in a burst of strength that left the list in new high ground for 1958.

Because of the earlier dips, the averages showed only moderate gains and the utility figure showed a decline. Industrials closed at 474.77 in the Dow-Jones average up 5.17 points; rails 119.21 up 1.94; utility 78.70 off 0.18 and 65 stocks 104.15 up 1.53 points.

BEST LEVEL

Industrials were at their best level since last Sept. 19 and rails since Oct. 15. The Standard & Poor 500-stock average set a new high for the year and its gain of 38 cents reflected a rise of 1.6 billion for the market as a whole.

SOVIET TIN EXPORTS DEPRESS MARKET

London, June 15. Uncontrolled Russian export of tin into Western European markets have now reached such a volume that they are depressing the world price and threatening Asia's chief tin producers with a serious labour and economic crisis.

Malaya, the world's leading producer, and Thailand, the fifth largest, have both drastically cut production and limited exports to prevent a collapse in the world price of tin.

Neither Soviet Russia nor China are members of the International Tin agreement and they are not bound by the overall 40 per cent cut imposed on the other six main tin-producing countries of the world who are members of the agreement.

FIGURES

No exact figures are known of Russian tin exports but the most authoritative estimates place the volume so far this year at about 15,000 long tons. Much of the Russian tin has been delivered on the London Metal Exchange and considerable sales for forward delivery have recently been made, the weight of these deliveries has depressed the price of the forward metal. There have also been sales of Chinese tin but in considerably smaller quantities than the Russian.—U.P.I.

Perplexing Week In London

London, June 15.

It has been one of the most perplexing weeks for stock exchange investors for a long time, with hopes alternately rising and being dashed of a settlement of the dock and Smithfield meat market strikes.

On top of it all everybody expected the bank rate to be lowered at least half a point on Thursday. Since this did not happen, many believe it will be next Thursday.

All this has had a discouraging impact on investors' morale, and business has been extremely quiet. Yet markets remained firm and on some days were surprisingly cheerful.

The gilt-edged market remained good, sustaining the general investment sentiment. Small orders seemed to have a disproportionate effect on prices. The fact that the bank rate cut did not come on Thursday caused only mild disappointment in the funds market, since it is taken for granted the cut will come.

SCRAMBLE

There has been a scramble for Treasury bills this past week, in which foreign banks and investment houses joined with zeal.

This resulted on Friday in a further fall in the bill rate to 4½ per cent, which brings the margin below bank rate to a full one per cent. All this proved encouraging to investors in gilt-edged.

Copper shares received a sharp stimulus from the United States administration's decision to start a stockpile of domestically produced copper.

Oil shares, with Wall Street to help them, held their ground. In the foreign bond market, German bonds were firmer with the return of continental support and Japanese issues remained firm on investment support. Greeks eased fractionally on the outbreak of further violence in Cyprus. The Kaffir market was rather more cheerful, but turnover remained light.—U.P.I.

Discount Rate Changes

Basel, June 15. The Bank for International Settlements reported last week that twenty countries effect 40 changes in their official discount rates in the period from January 1957 to May 1958.

The Bank said in its report that 22 of the changes were upward and 18 downward and that at the end of the period only three countries—Denmark, Germany and the United States—had lower rates than at the beginning.—U.P.I.

Cotton Futures See-Saw In New York

By WILLIAM T. PLUNKETT

New York, June 15.

Cotton futures went through alternate rallies and declines last week as market sentiment blew hot and cold with the changing complexion of prospective new farm legislation.

After three days of rising tendencies, the market became more two-sided and at Friday's close ruled 12 points lower to 35 points higher—80 cents lower to $1.75 a bale higher than the preceding week.

Washington legislation uncertainties reached a semi-climax on the closing session of last week, when the House Agriculture Committee approved the omnibus farm bill calling for the most sweeping changes in the farm programme since the new deal came into power 25 years ago.

A scheduled 40 per cent reduction in the 1958 cotton acreage would be cancelled, and growers for the next three years would have a choice between new price support programmes. Those electing to hold present average allotment would get supports at about 84 per cent of parity. Those deciding on increased acreage allotments would accept supports ranging as low as 60 per cent of parity.

First reaction to the news was sharp sell-off, especially in the October 1959 delivery, which would be the first position affected by the change.

Evening-up operations partially featured activities in the nearby July delivery, prior to final notice day on June 24. Open contracts in July the weekend were 137,400 bales. The contracted stock totaled 20,454 bales.

Raw cotton exports through June 10, as reported by the New York Cotton Exchange, totaled 6,050,202 bales against 6,612,000 bales reported to the same time last season.—U.P.I.

HONGKONG HOUSE Here Is Where Colony's Students Will Live

THIS is Hongkong House, the Colony's new £150,000 students' centre in London, which opened its doors unofficially on May 31. These exclusive China Mail pictures show various aspects of the building, once a foreign embassy and until its purchase 18 months ago by the H.K. Government, a hotel. It is located at the corner of Lancaster Gate and Leicester Terrace, about 1½ miles from Piccadilly Circus. It cost £50,000 to buy and £100,000 to redecorate.

BELOW: Chinese and European food is served in Hongkong House's big dining room. Here, the kitchen staff, which has been contracted from a well-known London Chinese restaurant, prepare the first meal. CENTRE LEFT: The students' rooms have been tastefully redecorated, and are up to first-class hotel standards. Here is one of the first students to enrol, Miss Y. H. Chiu, who is studying pianoforte in London. CENTRE RIGHT: The three men whose work has made a Hongkong students' centre in London possible. From left to right: Mr E. G. A. Grimwood, chairman of the steering committee; Mr Philip Cassidy, chairman of the board of governors; Mr G. P. Ferguson, director of Hongkong students in the United Kingdom. BOTTOM: Mr Philip Cassidy, chairman of the board of governors, greets the first 15 students to enrol. The House will accommodate 80 students. Full board costs from £5. 10. to £4 a week. —Express Service

There appears to be no ground for the rumour being persistently circulated in the City that following their relinquishment of the main bus services on the Island, the Hongkong & Shanghai Hotels, Ltd., have in contemplation a scheme for providing the Colony with cheap taxi transportation.

MR PETER GRANT, Assistant Superintendent of Police, is proceeding on home leave on August 12 on the P & O's Rajputana for nine months. This creates a rather unique record, as it will be only the second time that he is going on leave in 27 years. Only recently Mr Grant had a distressing accident, when while cranking his car it backfired and threw him out of the garage. He broke his right wrist. "I saw everything when the accident happened; all the stars, and the North and South Poles twinkled," Mr Grant humorously remarked to a reporter yesterday.

"WHILE I was in Russia," said Mr J. A. G. A. Malcolm of the Philippines Islands, in an address to the local Rotary Club at Gloucester Building, "I took great pains to attend a trial conducted according to Communist ideas. I was very favourably impressed by the methods which are being used, that is as far as I understood them. I think the Communist system is much better than the present American system."

Our Shanghai correspondent writes: The still somewhat shaky situation in the North has been followed by a still more dubious wave of hopeful anticipation that prosperity is only just around the corner.... Last night—at one of the popular dance-halls in town—one could have dinner, take a partner for every dance between eight and ten o'clock, and drink five big glasses of beer, all for $5, whereas ordinarily such a feast of entertainment would cost about $11.

"THE year 1952 in regard to law and order, was quiet." That satisfactory statement appears in the introduction of the annual report of the Inspector-General of Police, (Hon. Mr E. D. C. Wolfe) to be tabled at the meeting of the Legislative Council tomorrow.... The working of the Political Bureau has been much facilitated by the increase of staff allowed. This has enabled it to watch successfully the general activities of the Communist Party in Hongkong. Information gathered from time to time indicates that this year has been a very lean year for the Communists here. Immediately prior to some of the more important anniversaries, police succeeded in seizing quantities of inflammatory documents, without doubt intended for distribution upon those anniversaries. Numerous raids were carried out, and many Communists of varying grades of importance were arrested and subsequently banished.
